Fieldwork:

Over 356 archaeological studies have been completed during the period from 1976 to the present. These studies were completed to comply with State and Federal historic preservation laws (CEQA and NEPA) and include pedestrian archaeological inventories or Phase I surveys to identify significant historic properties, site excavations for Phase II testing of historic properties that are potentially eligible for the National Register of Historic Places, and Phase III excavations for data recovery projects including late discovery and systematic site destruction to mitigate the adverse effects to historic properties eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places.

These archaeological projects have involved the following Native American Indian Groups: Calaveras (Miwok), Chemehuevi, Chimariko, Chukchansi (Yokuts), Chumash, Desert Kawaiisu, Eastern Mono, Foothill Yokuts, Ione Band of the (Miwok), Kitanemuk, Kuzedika (Paiute), Mountain Kawaiisu (Newah), Navajo (Dine), Northern Valley Yokuts, North Fork Mono, Ohlone, Ootam, Owens Valley (Paiute), Panamint (Timibisha) Shoshone, Pomo, Pueblo, Quechan, Serrano, Southern Valley Yokuts, Tatavium, Tubatulabal, Tuolumne (Miwok), Western Mono, and Yowlumne (Yokuts).

Archaeological studies have been conducted in Alameda, Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Inyo, Kern, Kings, Lake, Los Angeles, Madera, Merced, Mono, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Joaquin, Santa Barbara, Solano, Sonoma, Stanislaus, Trinity, Tulare, Tuolumne, Ventura, and Yolo counties, in the state of California. Other archaeological fieldwork completed in Saguaro National Monument, Arizona; Fort Burgwin Research Center, Taos, New Mexico; Farmington, New Mexico; Black Rock Desert, Nevada; Baja del Sur, Mexico; Israel; and south-central Siberia, Russia.

The following is a list of some of the projects I have participated in. It is not exhaustive and serves simply to represent the range and character of such studies.

Identification and evaluation of potential effects for the Red Rock Canyon Bridge Replacement Project. Identified and evaluated historic properties within the project area, developed historic background for the Red Rock Railroad historic resource. Completed Historic Property Survey Report including the documentation of identification (Prehistoric Archaeological and Historic Archaeological Survey) and evaluation efforts (Geoarchaeological Study). Consultation completed with local museums, Red Rock Canyon State Park, Native American Heritage Commission (NAHC) and Native American groups identified. Area had been listed as a Sacred Site by NAHC. Result: no historic properties within area of potential effects (APE). 2009

Black Creek Site (CA-CAL-789) eligibility evaluation, testing, data recovery, and public interpretation. Contracted with Far Western and Sonoma State for data recovery and construction phase of systematic late discovery identification. Coordinated and consulted with Advisory Council, State Historic Preservation Office, the Army Corps of Engineers, and the Calaveras Band of Mi-Wuk. Significant and eligible site fully mitigated from adverse effects of road realignment through data recovery and public interpretation projects that included website, interpretive booklet, public presentations at conferences and public schools. Project given California Governor's Award for Historic Preservation in 2008.

The Applegate Site (CA-AMA-56) eligibility, data recovery, negotiation of reburial arrangement with the Ione Band of the Miwok, presentation of history and character of cultural resource studies in public program sponsored by Far Western Anthropological Research Group, State Historic Preservation Office, California Department of Transportation, and the Ione Band of the Miwok. Worked out program for dealing with eligible site that had received impacts from Caltrans over the course of 50 years of impacts. Dealt with major issues with human remains and associated mortuary offerings. 2001-2008

East Sonora Bypass archaeological studies. Developed program to mitigate adverse effects of numerous eligible historic and prehistoric archaeological sites. Consultation with Mi-Wuk on one of the most controversial Caltrans projects in the history of their cultural resource program due to the pattern of late discoveries and lack of thorough consultation with Native Americans. Coordination with State Historic Preservation Office concerning Memorandum of Agreement, Data Recovery Program, Programmatic Agreement, and Treatment Plan, Supplemental Historic Property Survey Report. 2003-2010
